

Between heartbeats

You were someone who did not know how to love, and I resented you for that sometimes.

When I had to ask for affection and tell you the right things to say, like I was a chore.
As I lay awake wondering if I was not enough, and you slept soundly, as if you did not care.

I questioned my worth each morning that I woke up to the sound of your silence.

But truthfully you did love me, your words just got tangled and lost but when you called me beautiful, I believed you.

Your emotions were quiet, but they were strong.

Your love in small doses was worth more than an entire ocean of someone else's romance.

You loved me in the only way you knew how, and I am so grateful to know how that feels.

Steps to be...

Escape from this place,
no one believe you,
because on their eyes you are just lying,
so, stop crying.

Look up and see the stars,
get lost in that time,
don't afraid and follow the line,
that will take you to the other side.

Listen to the sounds and relax yourself,
nobody will see you,
and if you want you can say the true,
but no one will hear it.

Drop everything and clean your tears,
cheer up and fight for your world,
be the next light to shine all night,
and everything it's going to be alright.

Prepare all you need and go outside,
but before, you need to be strong, that is the clue,
then, you can be what you want,
however in the dark I will still protect you.

Hug the fresh wind and forget this,
I will miss your presence,
because you was my only patience,
I will remember you, always...

THE ENCHANTED RIDDLES

Once upon a time there were two birds that were one brother and one sister. They were called Juan and Juanita. They lived far from the city and the town. One day they were very hungry and decided to go shopping in the town. On the way, they decided to go to a closer town. It was said that the town was enchanted but they ignored it.

When they arrived at the town they realized that the people who lived there instead of buying with money they had to buy with a riddle. For them it was perfect, at first they started buying bread. The one from the store had to tell them a riddle, but they failed. Suddenly they fainted and woke up in room with a card that put:

One person wanted to enter to a castle and the guard asked:

-Six?

-Three.- Said the person.

-Ten.- Ask the guard.

-Five.- Said the person.

But they stopped him. What was the correct answer?

-It's 3.-Said Juanita.

-Why?-Said Juan.

-Because it has three words T-E-N.- Said Juanita.

Suddenly appeared another card that said:

-How many months have 28 days?

-All the months because all the months have more than 28 days.-Said Juan.

At the final the door opened and they ran. Never in their lives they came back.

The story of the power rangers dino fury!

A long time ago, there was a girl named Alison, who came from a long vacation to work at Youth Bomb, which was a video and news company. When she came in, she thought she'd do a story about hunting ghosts in a forbidden forest that was full of stories to tell.

Alison went to her boss and asked if she could do a story about ghosts in the forbidden forest. Her boss Jani replied: No! Seeing her insistence and looking at her previous report on glow-in-the-dark lipstick, she said yes, but only if she has permission to enter the forbidden forest, and Alison lied and said yes. Then she headed towards the forbidden forest; after half an hour, when she was inside the forbidden forest accompanied by her ghost hunter gun that threw a net and was connected with a mini camera and a radar. At that moment she began her report on ghost catching when her radar detected that something was coming fast toward her, set out to throw the net, and after a few seconds someone called for help, she went to take a closer look and realized it was a boy, she helped him and inadvertently hit the wrong button which activated a trap to the net, she quickly deactivated the net, apologized, and they introduced themselves; The boy said his name was Daniel and that he was going to dino, as Alison was also going there and had the map, she accompanied him. After a short time, he introduced her to his mother, who was an archaeologist. Later the security guard who was in charge of enforcing the rules came and kicked him out of there and left, a few minutes later, his mother packed up and left, then the leader of the aliens appeared, as the two humans were hiding behind the trees. Their mission was to remove the sponics (which are alien eggs), to destroy the world so that his girlfriend would wake up from her deep sleep. The evil leader of the robots, who was disguised as a lilac power ranger, made a hole in the ground just above the secret cabin of the power rangers with his gun, the alien entered in anger but then behind him the two surprised humans entered; when the robot dinosaur was trying to wake up sector (a species that looked like a human that is from another planet and has antennas on his head), after a few seconds the alien told the robot dinosaur to give him the sponics but the dinosaur said no you will never get them! the alien shot the robot dinosaur and she crashed with the car on the wall, then the humans took the sword and without the alien noticing, they attacked him and became power rangers David in blue power ranger and Alison in pink power ranger and said wow! then the dinosaur got up and went to the computer and threw the key to dino fury soldiers (it means that the statues of soldiers who were there are activated and begin to fight), but they were unlucky that the key was caught by the alien, he put it in his sword and activated it because the soldiers began to fight against the power rangers, the dinosaur got nervous and punched the computer and with a cramp woke up Seitor. Red Power Ranger jumped out of the machine and began to fight but they were unlucky that the alien opened the machine of the Sponics and the Sponics began to fly and destroy the world after the alien left after a month David and Seitor went to work to Bomba Juvenile, in reality, was called Buz Janz with Alison and they had to interview an athlete at the sports center of the city after a short time they interviewed him but she did not interview because Seitor told her that if she teaches him to throw a fan she would accept the interview because she said and she surprisingly said yes and they became friends and the girl said her name was Alexandra and she has a brother named Alex who is a musician and he introduced himself too and they became friends and they all went to the museum in the city to see a ball of superpowers and when they got there they saw that there were the evil robots trying to steal the ball to be indestructible and the power rangers started fighting them with their swords and with Alex and Alex fighting sincerer they broke the ball and the power rangers started fighting them with their swords and with Alex and Alex they broke the ball. Evil robots trying to steal the ball to be indestructible and the power rangers began to fight them with their swords and Alexandra and Alex but when Alexandra and Alex fighting sincerer broke the ball and out come keys dino furya surprisingly take the keys and become power rangers the Alexandra in green power ranger and Alex in black power ranger, the robots looking that they are more go away from there and they return to the secret cave at night they arrive and introduce Alex and his sister to the dinosaur and go to sleep after a week they get an emergency call to the rangers that there are robots in the park gimac sisados (become giants), with the x-rays of the spaceship as the leader of the rangers the red ranger tells him to activate the sors (are giant dinosaur robots), t-rex battle mode they get on the sors they fight against the robots but they lose and fall asleep with the shot of the robots they take them from there as their alien leader in the forest above the secret cabin of the rangers next to the statues of dinosaurs that are connected with the network of metamorphosis (a network that without it would not exist the rangers and their super powers), the evil alien leader sat them to Seitor, Alexandra and Alex in some chairs and connected their heads to some tubes that were connected to a machine to remove the superpowers to the rangers and they die and the girlfriend of the alien leader wakes up and but when the blue power ranger and the pink power ranger realize that their companions are in danger they teleport, they arrive there they fight but they fight him but they are not able to get to him. transport they get there they fight but they shoot Alison and he falls asleep and they sit him in the stone chair and put the machine tube in his head and he knows that now it's all up to him his mother was watching all this as he faces the enemy he cuts the tube with the sword they wake up the rangers start to run. Because they realize that the machine will explode after a few seconds explodes and destroys the alien and its robots and also the sponics that were there and come to the guardians of the keys dino fury to thank them and the earth is safe from the curse.

Long live the power rangers!!!

There's no Life without Nature

Leave everything behind and start thinking about your future, a future full of life, full of nature.

Start working your brain and think about how to save nature, and better do it if you want a life full of adventure.

This life is nothing without nature,
but above all it is nothing if people don't mature.

You have the solution in your hands,
you just need to value nature and include it in your plans.
